2. how Iron Road intends to use the important input received through public forums in 2011 – 2012, focus groups in 2012 and on-going discussions with the community
3. what the regulator's requirements are for companies to consult with communities
4. how a Community Consultative Committee could work to meet the needs of the community, the regulator and Iron Road

There is a lot to learn about CCC's and the information will be presented by Bob Goreing, CEO of Community Engagement Group Australia, who has had vast experience with CCC's. . The opportunity exists for your community to take a lead role in the development of a CCC with support from Iron Road and we believe it highly important that the community is well informed before any decision to formally establish a CCC is made. Representatives from DMITRE will also be present to inform you on the regulator's expectations from Iron Road in relation to community consultation.

Timing

We do recognise that the timing may conflict with other priorities within the farming community and did consider holding off altogether until the end of June. However, after a number of discussions with both community members and internally, it was thought important to provide the community with time to receive the information, digest the concept, discuss with friends and family and consider involvement leading up to mid-year. We will ensure that the information will be available through various avenues, however do encourage you to attend one of the sessions if you can find the time. Our aim at this early stage is to hand over some information to those who can attend so that they can take it away for consideration and discussion. Tim and I will be available at any time following the sessions to provide further information as required.
